

Autocalibration 0.2

Draft of the autocalibration diagram

Directional arrows signify that the output data from the calibration routine is fed to the routine the arrows point to.

Only relevant for flux-tunable transmons

Single qubit characterization

Two qubit characterization

In bold letters are the relevant outputs of the characterization to be improved

